Don't be S.A.D....

February is officially the month where lots of us are affected by SAD due to the dull, cold weather, dark nights and anti climax from Christmas.

Never fear, it is a perfect opportunity to do all those jobs on your miniatures you promised yourself in your New Year's Resolution—after all, with such awful weather and dark nights, why not stop in?!

I think lots of us made a resolution to get something started (or finished!!) so I challenge everyone to achieve one thing by next meeting!

Why not let me know what you achieved and I will put a list in the next newsletter—name and shame!!

You could even start work on our next club project, the attic room.

We have almost finalized the schedule for this year's club nights and I have included a list inside. There are one or two events yet to be confirmed so I will keep you updated on any changes. Don't forget to keep an eye on the website—it has been updated a little, and the forum. All the pictures of the box file project are there for you to vote for your favourite.
